Catching What Others Miss:

How AuditIQ Turns Everyday Medical Bills Into Measurable Savings

AUDITIQ™

Featuring A Real-Life Medical Bill Adjustment

In workers' compensation, some of the biggest savings come from catching the smallest mistakes.

One of the most common examples?

LACERATION REPAIR CODING

These services are frequently billed at higher levels than medical documentation supports, allowing routine overpayments to slip through unnoticed.

REAL NUMBERS: ONE OF OUR MEDICAL BILLS

A provider submitted a bill for $1,298.00, including a Level III office visit (CPT 99203) and an intermediate laceration repair (CPT 12041). The bill looked routine. But CompIQ's AuditIQ team took a closer look.

A Certified Professional Coder (CPC) reviewed the medical records and uncovered a critical discrepancy:

- The laceration was superficial
- No actual repair was performed
- Bleeding was controlled with a coagulation agent and dressing

According to AMA CPT guidelines, this treatment did not qualify as a separately billable laceration repair. The work performed should have been included in the evaluation and management service.

THE FINANCIAL IMPACT

Before AuditIQ Review	$745.46
After AuditIQ Review	$216.05
Total Savings	$529.41

71% REDUCTION

One medical bill. One coding discrepancy.
$529.41 in savings

This is just one example. When high-frequency billing errors go undetected across THOUSANDS of medical bills, small overpayments quickly become SIGNIFICANT EXPENSES.
